I am pleased to present the 2023 Annual Report (the “Report”) of summary statistical information produced by the Department of Financial and Professional Regulation (the “Department”) pursuant to Public Act 100-286. The Act aims to ensure that having a criminal conviction alone does not stand in the way of occupational licensure and requires the Department to consider mitigating factors and evidence of rehabilitation contained in the applicant’s record. Indeed, this law’s objective remains at the heart of the Department’s core mission and philosophy: to remove barriers of entry and to ensure that all Illinoisians have a fair opportunity to work in the professions that they have trained so hard to practice in.

As with years past, the Report illustrates that virtually all applicants with criminal convictions, that by law did not automatically exclude them from licensure, were awarded licenses. The small percentage of applicants with convictions who were not granted licenses were due to factors unrelated to the conviction; for example, voluntarily electing not to pursue the application process further such as requesting a hearing or working with our enforcement staff. Overall, in 2023, the Department received more than 123,000 license applications and around 1,400 applicants reported past criminal history. Zero applicants were denied a license this past year, in whole or in part, because of their conviction.

In addition to awarding licenses to applicants with criminal convictions, this year’s Report illustrates the success of Illinois’s statutory framework to establish social equity in the cannabis industry. The Cannabis Regulation and Tax Act established a model framework for the nation in part by removing employment barriers in the cannabis industry for persons with convictions and incentivizing the employment of persons with such convictions.

Although the Report shows that a non-excluded conviction rarely prevents a license from being granted, we must still work hard as an agency to make our process seamless. To this end, the Department routinely reviews our processes and procedures to ensure we are reaching the gold standard for public service. We continue to think about how to effectively communicate key information about the application process with applicants who have convictions. We are also strengthening our partnerships to help facilitate licensure upon release, including working alongside the Illinois Department of Corrections and participating in re-entry summits. Finally, we are working to make critical technological improvements that allow the Department to provide excellent customer service to our constituents overall.

The Report underscores the Department's ongoing commitment to apply fair, unbiased, and even-handed mitigating factors in the licensing process, so that having a past criminal conviction is rarely, in and of itself, a bar to obtaining a professional license. The Department, therefore, continues to encourage qualified applicants with previous convictions to apply and seek their license, which is ultimately to the benefit of all in Illinois who will receive their services.
