ABOUT THE INFORMATION IN THIS REPORT

THIS REPORT IS BASED ON STATISTICAL INFORMATION REQUIRED UNDER THE PAYDAY LOAN REFORM ACT, 815 ILCS122.

THE INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THIS REPORT IS BASED ON LOAN DATA REGISTERED TO THE ILLINOIS PLRA CONSUMER REPORTING SERVICE (“DATABASE”) PURSUANT TO THE ACT. THE ACT WAS EFFECTIVE ON DECEMBER 6, 2005, AND THE DATABASE WENT INTO EFFECT BEGINNING IN FEBRUARY 2006. THE DATA PRESENTED IN THIS REPORT IS FOR THE PERIOD FROM FEBRUARY 2006 THROUGH DECEMBER 2014.

Illinois Trends Report – All Consumer Loan Products

Summary of APR: How it is Determined and the Effect it has

The Annual Percentage Rate (“APR”) is the annual rate charged on a loan as characterized by a percentage rate that represents the annual cost of borrowing. Loans vary from lender to lender and are also based on consumer needs, product parameters, and market competition. APR is a useful tool in comparing credit products; however, it can also be misleading due to the factors involved. When entering into a credit product, some factors affecting APR include: Fees, Interest Charges and Loan Maturity.

It is important to note the inverse relationship between APR and Loan Maturity; if all other factors remain the same except for the term of the loan, the APR decreases as the time to repay the loan increases. For example, a one month loan of $1,000 with a 5% fee has an APR of over 50%, while a one year loan of $1,000 with a 5% fee has an APR of 5%.

Implementation of HB 537

When reviewing the information contained in this report the reader will notice a significant increase in database activity beginning in 2011. This increased activity is a result of HB 537 which became effective on March 21, 2011. HB 537 amended the Payday Loan Reform Act (PLRA) to create Installment Payday Loans as well as amended the Consumer Installment Loan Act (CILA) to create Small Consumer Loans. Pursuant to PLRA and CILA, lenders are required to enter information regarding these new loan types into the database. The database became live on July 25, 2011.

Illinois Trends Report – All Consumer Loan Products

All Consumer Loan Products

Products included in this report consist of Payday Loans (starting on February 1st, 2006), CILA Loans (starting on February 1st, 2006 and ending on March 20th, 2011), Installment Payday Loans (starting on July 25th, 2011, with historical uploads from March 21st, 2011), Title Loans (starting on October 1st, 2009, with historical uploads from April 1st, 2009), and Small Consumer Loans (starting on July 25th, 2011, with uploads from March 21st, 2011).

Examples of Consumer Credit Products Contained in this Report

A Payday Loan (PLRA) is a loan with a finance charge exceeding an annual percentage rate of 36% and with a term that does not exceed 120 days. No lender may charge more than $15.50 per $100 loaned except as otherwise allowed by the Payday Loan Reform Act. Licensees have been required to input PLRA loans into the database since 2006.

A Consumer Installment Loan (CILA) is any loan made to a consumer up to $40,000 as permitted by the Consumer Installment Loan Act. Licensees have never been required to input this data into the system. Any information previously captured was voluntarily provided by licensees.

An Installment Payday Loan (IPL) is a loan with a finance charge exceeding an annual percentage rate of 36% and with a term no less than 112 days and no longer than 180 days. No lender may charge more than $15.50 per $100 loaned except as otherwise allowed by the Payday Loan Reform Act. Installment Payday Loans were created pursuant to the PLRA in 2011. Beginning in March of 2011, licensees were required to input IPL data into the database.

A Title Secured Loan (Title), pursuant to the Consumer Installment Loan Act, is a loan upon which interest is charged at an annual percentage rate exceeding 36%, and, at commencement, the obligor provides to the licensee, as security for the loan, physical possession of the obligor's title to a motor vehicle.

A Small Consumer Installment Loan (SCL), pursuant to the Consumer Installment Loan Act, is a loan upon which interest is charged at an annual percentage rate exceeding 36% and with an amount financed of $4,000 or less. SCL does not include a title-secured loan. Small Consumer Loans were created by CILA in 2011. Beginning in March of 2011, licensees were required to input SCL data into the database.

Number of Consumers/Borrowers

During the period from February 2006 through December 2014 (“Reporting Period”), 1,032,218 consumers took out 6,375,269 loans, or an average of 6.2 loans per consumer.

The number of loan consumers (unique borrowers) in the Reporting Period is as follows:

The significant increase in unique consumers beginning in 2011 is a result of legislation requiring lenders to input information into the database for the new loan types. Prior to this time period, SCL and IPL did not exist in the database.

For the Reporting Period:

- Approximately 63% of loan consumers earn $30,000 or less per year.
- Approximately 14% of loan consumers earn more than $50,000 per year.
- Approximately 4% of loan consumers earn more than $75,000 per year.

¹ Individual borrowers may utilize multiple products, so the total number of unique borrowers may be less than the sum of all columns for individual products.

² Due to the dynamic nature of the database, data shown may differ from previous reports.

Illinois Trends Report – All Consumer Loan Products

Transaction Volume

Total transaction volume for the Reporting Period, including PLRA Loans, CILA Loans, Installment Payday Loans, Title Loans, and Small Consumer Loans was approximately 6,375,269 loans.

Transaction Volume per Month

Prior to implementation of HB 537, which created SCL and IPL loans, licensees had the option to voluntarily record CILA loans on the database, which a small amount of licensees did. Post implementation of HB 537 the inclusion of IPL and SCL loans became mandatory. This is why beginning after March of 2011 there is an increase in the amount of overall transactions while at the same time CILA loan activity has ceased.

Declined Consumer Eligibility Checks⁵

Declined eligibility checks for PLRA, IPL, and Title products averaged approximately 32.5 percent of total transaction requests during the Reporting Period.⁶

Declined Eligibility Checks % of Total Transaction Requests (not including SCL)

Note: The cause of the abnormal increase in declined eligibility requests between March 2008 and September 2008 is due to multiple database events from a single licensee for a reason that may not be related to loan applications.

The increase in declined eligibility requests during the second half of 2009 is correlated to the implementation of Title Loan lending and the requirement for lenders to input data into the database.

Due to statute changes, licensees were unable to enter Payday Loan declines in the database from March 21st, 2011 through July 24th, 2011.

The following tables represent data from all registered users other than that single licensee.

⁵ Transactions and declines for Small Consumer Loans are not included in this section because declines for Small Consumer Loans are not recorded by the database.

⁶ Assumes that declined consumer intended to open and represents the number of opened transactions plus the number of declined eligibility checks. Data includes multiple declined eligibility checks for the same consumer.

⁷ A consumer may be ineligible for a loan for a number of reasons, including but not limited to: repayment plan restrictions; waiting period; restricted by consecutive days in product; over the dollar limit; and two open transactions. Definitions for ineligibility reasons for specific products are provided on pages 18-19 and 26-27.

Illinois Trends Report – All Consumer Loan Products

Loan Loss

The chart below provides annual information about the estimated default rate of PLRA, IPL, Title, and SCL products during the Reporting Period.⁸

Loan loss is estimated by counting loans in default, written off, closed with a payment method of "bad debt", or are currently open greater than 60 days past due (or 60 days past the end date of the repayment plan if the loan was put into a repayment plan).

Loan loss for small consumer loans is estimated by counting loans listed as "discharged by the lender" and loans "satisfied in full or in part by collateral being sold after default."

⁸ Due to the method used for loan loss calculation and due to the dynamic nature of the database, loan loss rates shown may differ from the rates presented in previous reports, and rates calculated for 2014 are likely to be higher in future reports.

PLRA Average Term, Advance Amount, and Finance Charge

The average term for PLRA Loans during the Reporting Period was 17.2 days.

As can be seen by the table below, more than 65% of loans had a term between 13 to 20 days. However, the use of a loan product with a term of 21 to 30 days increased over the Reporting Period.

Year	% of Loans by Term Range
	13 to 20 days	21 to 30 days	30 to 45 days
2006	87.0%	12.5%	0.5%

2013	69.6%	28.8%	1.6%
2014	68.2%	30.0%	1.8%

The average PLRA Loan transaction during the Reporting Period was for an advance amount of approximately $358.60 with total fees of $55.09, or 15.36% of the average advance amount ($15.36 per $100.00 borrowed).

As noted above, most loan terms are between 13 and 20 days. However, if the same average total loan fees were annualized, the annual percentage rate (APR) would be 327%.

Declined Eligibility due to Waiting Period Restrictions

17,883 requests for a PLRA Loan were declined during the Reporting Period because of waiting period restrictions. These 17,883 declined eligibility requests represent approximately 3.2% of the 556,826 declined eligibility requests for the same period.

A Waiting Period is the period of time prescribed by the Payday Loan Act that a consumer is prohibited from receiving an additional Payday or Installment Payday Loan upon payment of the initial Payday or Installment Payday Loan. This time may vary from 2 to 14 days based on the type of loan and repayment, maturity or repayment plan issues.

Declined Eligibility due to Over Dollar Limit

85,357 requests for a PLRA Loan were declined during the Reporting Period due to exceeding allowable outstanding dollar limits. These 85,357 declined eligibility requests represent approximately 15.3% of the 556,826 declined eligibility requests for the same period.

Over Dollar Limit indicates that the consumer has reached the maximum allowable monthly debt service for a payday loan(s). The maximum monthly debt service is the lesser of $1,000 per month or 25% of Gross Income for Payday Loans and 22.5% of Gross Income for Installment Payday Loans. If the consumer has an existing Installment Payday Loan and is seeking an additional Payday Loan the maximum allowable monthly Debt Service is limited to the lesser of $1,000 or 22.5% of Gross Monthly Income.

Declined Eligibility due to Two Open Transactions
